IMPERIAL CABINET CRISIS.

THREE MINISTERS LEAVE THE GOVERNMENT.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN, MR. RITCHIE, AND LORD GEORGE HAMILTON.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE PREFERENTIAL TRADE CONTROVERSY.

AN ORIGINAL RESIGNATION.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY WILL FIGHT IN THE CONSTITUENCIES.

HE ASKS FOR IMPERIAL UNION AND RETALIATION.

THE MODIFIED POLICY OF THE GOVERNMENT.

POINTS OF DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN MINISTERS.

LONDON, Sept. 12.
It is officially announced that His Majesty the King has accepted the resignations of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. C. T. Ritchie, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

LETTER TO THE PRIME MINISTER.

'FOR THE CAUSE OF IMPERIAL UNITY.'

LONDON, Sept. 12.
Mr. Chamberlain, in a letter to Mr. Balfour, the Prime Minister, written on September 9 in anticipation of the meeting of the Cabinet held last Monday, says—

"I have most carefully considered the situation as it affects the Government and the great question of fiscal reform. When you were replying to the resolution regarding the corn tax, and I at Birmingham called attention to the changes in the commercial position during the last half-century, suggesting an inquiry, I did not think that either of us intended to provoke a purely party controversy. We raised, not for the first time, a question of the greatest national and Imperial importance in the hope that it would be impartially discussed by friends and opponents and that an inquiry would be initiated and would lead to conclusions which would be accepted by a majority of the people, and be represented accordingly in the results of the next general election."

"I am deeply concerned with your inability, in the very special circumstances, to remain a Minister, but I do not venture to raise an objection, and if you think you can best serve the interests of Imperial unity by freely pressing your views of preference in an independent position, how can I criticise your determination?"

"The loss of the Government will be great indeed, but the gain to the cause you have at heart may be greater still. If so, what can I do but acquiesce?"

THE RECONSTRUCTION.

ANTICIPATED APPOINTMENTS.

LORD MILNER MENTIONED.

LONDON, Sept. 12.
The "Daily Telegraph" says there is an impression in official circles that Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Postmaster-General, will succeed Mr. Ritchie as Chancellor of the Exchequer, that Mr. St. John Brodrick (Secretary of State for War) will take Lord George Hamilton's present position of Secretary of State for India, and that Mr. Arnold Forster (Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty) will succeed Mr. Brodrick.

Lord Milner is mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Chamberlain in the Colonial Office.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain will not resign from the Cabinet.

HOW EVENTS WERE FORECAST.

LONDON, Sept. 12.
A GRATEFUL PIECE OF NEWS.—While the "Times" publishes a paragraph which implies that some of the Ministers have tendered their resignations, though the fact that such Ministers have resigned has not been announced officially.

The "St. James's Gazette," an independent Conservative evening newspaper, says that if the full programme of Imperial Union is not adopted by the Government, Mr. Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, will resign from the Cabinet.

Sums of the other newspapers point to Mr. C. T. Ritchie, Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council; Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India; and Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Secretary for Scotland, as being the members of the Cabinet who have sent in their resignations.

MR. BALFOUR'S MANIFESTO.

VIEW OF MERCHANTS AT VIENNA.

LONDON, Sept. 12.
The Vienna correspondent of the "London Standard" states that exporters of goods from Vienna admit that the effect of the new policy of preferential trade would be to ruin them.

"If as I believe, you share these views, it seems to me that you will be absolutely justified in adopting them as the policy of your Government, although it will involve some changes in its constitution."

"As Secretary of State for the Colonies, I have been in an especial sense the representative of the policy of closer union, and I believed that it is possible to-day, but may be impossible to-morrow, to make arrangements for such a union. I have had unequalled opportunities for watching the trend of events and appreciating the feelings of my constituents."

"I stand in a different position to my colleagues. I should be justly blamed if I remained in office and accepted the exclusion of so important a part of my programme."

"I thank that, with absolute loyalty to the Government and its general policy, and without fear of embarrassing it, I can best promote the cause outside. I cannot but hope that in an independent position my arguments will have less prejudice than from a party leader."

"Accordingly I suggest that you limit the present policy of the Government to the assertion of our freedom in connection with all our mutual relations with foreigners, and that you leave to my resignation to devote myself to explaining and popularising Imperial union, which experience has convinced me is essential to our future welfare and prosperity."

MR. BALFOUR'S REPLY.

THE GOVERNMENT'S GREAT LOSS.

A CONSCIENTIOUS DETERMINATION.

Mr. Balfour replied on September 16 as follows—

"Agreeing with you that the time has come for a change in the fiscal canon by which we bound ourselves in our dealings with other Governments, it seems paradoxical that you should leave the Cabinet at the moment when others are leaving it because they disagree on that point with both of us. Yet I reluctantly admit that there is some force in the arguments presented upon a special personal relation with preference."

"We have done more than any man living to bring home to the citizens of the Empire the consciousness of Imperial obligation and the interdependence of the fragments into which they are divided. I believe few Cabinet will not involve serious difficulty. The correspondence, the "Times" continues, reflects the highest credit upon both statesmen. Mr. Chamberlain's retirement may paradoxically strengthen the Government's policy and position in some respects."

The "Daily Telegraph" says that the correspondence redounds to the honour of the country, and that it does not contain a single note of self-seeking or personal ambition.

The "Daily News" says that Mr. Chamberlain has met his Waterloo, and that an appeal to the country cannot be delayed.

The "Financial News" says that the loss to the Colonial Office is incalculable and irreparable. Mr. Chamberlain was indispensable as no Minister was. He is no sacrifice to a lost cause. The "Financial News" adds, Mr. Chamberlain is destined to a triumph, which will be the Empire's.

The "Chronicle" says that Mr. Chamberlain in proposing a particular line which the Cabinet actually adopted, won a conspicuous victory in the Cabinet, though he suffered a straining reverse in the country; but the Cabinet has not rejected it. It has merely postponed, the preference proposals.

The "Standard," while not anticipating the adoption by the country of Mr. Chamberlain's proposals, confesses that his inevitable retirement is an administrative misfortune. His ungrudging admission regarding the consequences of the "Standard" further says, is creditable to his sense of honour and political discernment, though he does not believe that the drift of public opinion is permanent.

SIR EDMUND BARTON'S VIEWS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.
Sir John Barton, speaking to-night, said that the Prime Minister and to-night:—No doubt Mr. Chamberlain's resignation arises out of the inability of the Cabinet to agree upon the question of preferential trade, although it did not appear that there was much difference between his views and those of the other members of the Cabinet.

Mr. Barton said that the Minister living in this Empire has a weighty burden of proof. In all his appointments to posts of trust he must prove that he is fit for the post.

Mr. Barton said that the Empire, and he himself has exhibited an activity in which the movements of the colonies has become centred and not confined to the British Isles.

safe harbours built up out of the hard earnings of the people. (Applause.) The spirit of protection was the spirit of primitive harbours. (Applause.)

A ROBINSON CRUSOE ISOLATION.

The old exploited policy which believed that prosperity was only to be had as far apart from the rest of the world as possible, and to stay away from someone else, was all disappearing under the conviction that there is no sound state of prosperity without sympathy with others.

If there was anything in the policy of Robinson Crusoe, it would have been in what he wrote in his diary when he said: "I fear the savages will come in, the savages invade, the dumping down of sheep labour on my island." (Laughter.)

But that footprint of a man was not enough to make us want to go to him. There was not much to be gained by trying to move a man's person's pocket to another's.

If the first person did not know it, he was right. (Laughter and applause.) That was the secret of protection. Men who did not know they were being taxed did not care, and the men who knew the secret of protection did not care.

The coal industry, as it was used, was a monster condominium industry, intent on the honest labour of every man and child in Australia. (Applause.)

The industrial could stand up, if it could stand up.

It is the only way to build up a nation.

NATIONAL BUILDING.

His great ambition was to build up a nation that should never struggle and flounder. If they built their foundations on the green grass natural industries at the soil level could lead to national wealth.

He was not a statesman. (Applause.) It was not a thousand paces that of the 1,400,000 people in the young State with a territory as large as England and Scotland, the majority of whom were poor, he might have been able to find a place where the people might depend that the foundations were soundly laid.

He was not the man to build up a nation.

GENERAL RAINS.

LIGHT FALLS IN THE WEST.

HEAVY DOWNPOURS ON THE HIGH-LANDS AND COAST.

NEARLY SIX INCHES AT PLACES.

SPLENDID FALLS IN RIVERINA.

Further extensive rains have fallen over the entire State, and yesterday morning it was still raining over almost the whole of New South Wales. The far west, which was specially favoured on the preceding day, received more rain yesterday, but, generally speaking, it was of a lighter character. Wilmeton, on the south coast, received a fall of 65 inches, and Balmoral had 60. Beyond the Darling the highest rainfall was reported as half an inch at White Cliffs, where water has been urgently required for a considerable time past. Other centres in the far west reported much smaller falls, and the additional quantity measured at Broken Hill was only 10 inches.

The great bulk of the rainfall was concentrated in the south-west, and the additional character travelled diagonally across the State towards the north-east, with the extreme heavy rain having been experienced in the south-eastern districts traversed. Balmoral, in the centre of New South Wales, has had a further fall of upwards of two inches, and reports of other stations in the Maranoa district will yield 20 inches. Reports of a record rainfall in the south-eastern districts are not available, but it is probable that the dams in each of these areas have now reached a record height. (Laughter.)
